EID Numbers in your Blanket

EID (electronic identification number) is the unique number assigned to each sheep at birth. It allows us to identify and keep track of records tied that that individual like fleece weight, number of lambs born and mature weight.

The EID tag was scanned when each sheep was shorn earlier this year. We then printed a barcode and kept it with each fleece. Once the fleece was sorted, it was placed in the bale and the barcode was scanned, that's how we're able to know what sheep's fleece is in each bale. Once the fleece is put in the bale, we lose track of the individual fleeces, which is why you can only see a long list of possible fleeces. We hope you think this is as cool as we do!

840003139305747	840003145046524	840003145046380
840003145046428	840003145046255	840003222933462
840003145046533	840003145046566	840003145046382
840003145046756	840003145046199	840003145046325
840003139305983	840003145046572	840003145046287
840003145046536	840003145046520	840003145046317
840003145046564	840003145046165	840003145046400
840003145046621	840003145046310	840003145046393
840003145046561	840003145041421	840003145046425
840003145046562	840003145046620	840003145046574
840003145046285	840003145046650	840003145046844
84000314504664	840003145046188	