

EID Numbers in your Blanket

EID (electronic identification number) is the unique number assigned to each sheep at birth. It allows us to identify and keep track of records tied to that individual like fleece weight, number of lambs born and mature weight.

The EID tag was scanned when each sheep was shorn earlier this year. We then printed a barcode and kept it with each fleece. Once the fleece was sorted, it was placed in the bale and the barcode was scanned, that's how we're able to know what sheep's fleece is in each bale. Once the fleece is put in the bale, we lose track of the individual fleeces, which is why you can only see a long list of possible fleeces. We hope you think this is as cool as we do!

---

840003145046529	840003139305514	840003145046196
840003145046648	840003145046521	840003145046380
840003145046041	840003145046145	840003222933462
840003145046576	840003145046568	840003145046382
840003139305972	840003145046835	840003145046325
840003145046645	840003145046061	840003145046287
840003145046655	840003145046033	840003145046317
840003145045847	840003145046531	840003145046400
840003145046644	840003145046415	840003145046393
840003139305277	840003145046296	840003145046425
840003139306374	840003145046658	840003145046574
840003145046538	840003145046845	840003145046844
840003145046579	840003145046165

---

